

A collage of business-related images. In the background, there are various charts: a bar chart with blue and red bars, a line graph with blue and red lines, a map with a red location pin, and a pie chart. In the foreground, there are several US dollar bills, including a $100 bill and a $10 bill. In the center, there is a photo of four professionals (three men and one woman) sitting around a table, looking at a tablet. The man in the center is pointing at the screen. The woman on the left is smiling. The man on the right is looking at the screen. The woman on the far right is also looking at the screen. The overall theme is business and digital services.

Introduction

In today's digital-first economy, local businesses are more aware than ever of the importance of being seen, trusted, and chosen online. Yet most business owners don't have the time, knowledge, or clarity to navigate the complex world of digital marketing. That's where you — the digital service provider — come in.

This book is designed to give you a complete, practical understanding of the most valuable and in-demand digital services you can offer to local businesses. Whether you're building a new agency, expanding your freelance offerings, or looking to productize services, this guide lays out everything you need to confidently present, price, and deliver results.

Each chapter focuses on one core digital service — from Google Business Profile optimization to SEO, reputation management, website building, PPC ads, and beyond. Inside every section, you'll find:

- A clear explanation of the service and why it matters to local businesses
- A full breakdown of sub-services and deliverables you can offer
- Suggested pricing models based on industry standards
- Logical cross-sell opportunities to expand the value of each engagement
- A ready-to-use sales pitch to introduce the service to potential clients
- Supporting templates such as audit checklists and monthly reports

DIGITAL SERVICES & PRICING STRATEGY

This book doesn't just describe what each service is — it gives you a framework for how to approach it professionally, price it profitably, and position it in a way that resonates with business owners.

You'll also gain insight into how services relate to and support each other — for example, how website building leads into SEO, how citations feed into local rankings, or how PPC campaigns benefit from conversion-focused landing pages.

Whether you're starting from scratch or scaling up, this guide will help you build trust, deliver value, and close deals with confidence.

DIGITAL SERVICES & PRICING STRATEGY

How to Price Digital Services for Local Clients

One of the most important — and often most challenging — parts of selling digital services is setting the right price. Price too high, and you risk scaring away budget-conscious clients. Price too low, and you undervalue your work and struggle to grow. This page will help you think strategically about how to price your services effectively, based on your experience level, the client's profile, and your local market.

1. Consider the Client's Location, Market, and Business Size

Not all clients are equal when it comes to pricing tolerance.

- Location matters. A dentist in Los Angeles will expect different pricing than a landscaper in a rural town. Urban, competitive, and high-income areas can support higher service fees.
- Industry matters. Certain industries (like law, medical, real estate) have higher customer lifetime value and greater competition, so clients often expect to invest more.
- Business size matters. A solo operator with a basic website need will have a very different budget than a multi-location business with paid ads, SEO, and video marketing campaigns.

2. Know Where You Stand: Freelancer or Agency?

- If you're new or just starting out, your goal should be to price competitively while still covering your time and showcasing value. This might mean starting at the lower end of typical price ranges and including a few bonuses to sweeten the deal.

DIGITAL SERVICES & PRICING STRATEGY

- If you're an established freelancer or agency, you can charge more — but it must be backed up with proof of results, testimonials, or professional presentation.

You're not just charging for time — you're charging for outcomes, peace of mind, and professionalism.

3. Research Local Pricing

It's smart to understand the pricing landscape in your area before setting your rates. Here are a few ways to do that:

- Check local competitors' websites. Some freelancers and agencies publish “starting at” pricing on their service pages.
- Look at freelance platforms. Sites like Upwork or Fiverr (filter by location) can show you what others are charging for similar services.
- Call or email anonymously. Request quotes from 2–3 local providers as if you were a customer to get a feel for the market rate.

Remember, your goal is not necessarily to be the cheapest — but to understand the range so you can position yourself smartly within it.

4. Should You Undercut Competitors?

Undercutting can be a short-term tactic, but it's not a sustainable pricing model. Instead of lowering your prices, try to increase your perceived value:

- Offer more support — include setup help, guidance, or follow-up.
- Bundle related services — for example, GBP + citation building, or SEO + content.
- Include bonuses — like free audits, strategy sessions, or a welcome pack.

- Frame your offer as a solution, not a service — business owners buy results, not tasks.

Price isn't the only factor in decision-making — trust, presentation, and clarity matter just as much.

5. Offer Tiered Packages

A smart pricing strategy is to offer 3 clear packages for each service:

- Starter — a basic entry-level option with limited features
- Standard — your ideal package (most value for price)
- Premium — high-touch, all-inclusive version for larger clients

This makes it easier for customers to choose without needing custom quotes every time, and helps anchor your value higher.

6. Build In Flexibility (Especially Early On)

Especially in the early stages, be open to adjusting your price depending on:

- The complexity of the project
- The relationship potential (recurring work, referrals)
- Your current portfolio needs (building case studies)

You can always raise prices later — but it's harder to recover after quoting too high and losing trust.

Test, Track, and Adjust

Pricing is not set in stone. Test different approaches, watch how clients respond, and don't be afraid to adjust as you grow. What matters most is that you clearly communicate the value behind your pricing and deliver results that make the investment feel worth it.

DIGITAL SERVICES & PRICING STRATEGY

What To Sell And Why

Here's a suggested priority list, ranked by what's typically easiest to sell and/or most in demand among local businesses

1. Google Business Profile (GBP) Optimization

Why it's first:

- Most local businesses already have a listing (or need one).
- Immediate, visible ROI (appears in Google Maps & local search).
- Easy to explain value: more visibility = more foot traffic or calls.

2. Reputation Management

Why:

- Reviews directly impact conversion.
- Businesses feel pain quickly from bad reviews.
- Most don't know how to respond or generate good ones consistently.

3. Citations & Local Listings

Why:

- Pairs naturally with GBP.
- Seen as “checklist SEO” — makes the business look more legit online.

DIGITAL SERVICES & PRICING STRATEGY

- Affordable and easy to outsource/deliver.

4. On-Page & Technical SEO

Why:

- Slightly more technical but helps improve organic rankings.
- Many local businesses have websites but don't understand SEO.
- Audit tools give you tangible reports to upsell from.

5. Website Building

Why:

- High demand, especially among newer businesses or those with outdated sites.
- A strong visual portfolio makes it easier to sell.
- Leads to cross-sells (SEO, security, accessibility, etc.)

6. Website Security

Why:

- Rising awareness of cyber threats.
- Easy win after a site audit.
- Pairs well with web hosting or maintenance plans.

7. Accessibility Services

Why:

- Growing legal pressure (ADA compliance in the U.S.).
- More appealing to businesses in regulated sectors (law, healthcare, education).

DIGITAL SERVICES & PRICING STRATEGY

- Slightly technical to sell, but powerful positioning.

8. Link Building

Why:

- Harder to explain to non-technical clients.
- Considered “advanced SEO.”
- More of a secondary upsell after on-page SEO shows results.

9. PPC Marketing

Why it's lower:

- Higher cost barrier (ad spend + your fee).
- Requires trust in you and a healthy budget.
- Best sold once you've proven results from SEO, GBP, or website optimization.

Video Marketing Sales Script

Opening (Build Excitement and Relevance)

Hi [Name], I help local businesses use video to attract more attention, build trust, and turn browsers into buyers.

Most people would rather watch a short video than read a bunch of text — and video content performs better on websites, social media, and even Google listings.

Problem Identification (Highlight the Missed Opportunity)

I took a look at your business online and noticed you're not using much video, or at least it's not front and center.

That's a huge opportunity because:

- People are 2–3x more likely to engage with a video than an image or block of text.
- Google favors pages with video content.
- And video builds trust fast — especially for local service businesses.

Solution + Offer

I offer a simple Video Marketing Service where we:

- Help script short videos like a business intro, service overview, or testimonial
- Edit and brand them with your logo, text overlays, music, and captions
- Upload them to the right platforms — your website, Google profile, YouTube, and social media
- And track how they perform over time

We can even repurpose one video into multiple formats for better reach.

Call to Action (Low Commitment Ask)

Would you like to see a few video ideas or examples from similar businesses I've worked with?

DIGITAL SERVICES & PRICING STRATEGY

I can also do a quick video audit and show you how to get started without needing to be on camera, if you prefer.
